INTRODUCTION

The Third World Resource Centre (TWRC) houses a specialized collection of up-to-date resources on the developing world. The collection includes periodicals, newspapers and newsletters.

The purpose of this Guide is to help identify those periodicals which focus on specific areas or topics in the field of development. It contains brief annotations for all the current journals, newspapers and national newsletters in the TWCR collection. Newsletters and reports published by organizations are excluded.

Part I consists of an alphabetical list by title of the periodicals included. Part II is an annotated listing under broad subject headings. The bibliographic information for each entry includes the full title, place of publication, name of publisher and published subscription rates for 1982, both personal and institutional, where applicable. A directory of publishers is provided in the appendix.
